The neurofeedback bootcamp didactic course forms part of a global international initiative (GNI) organized by Stress Therapy Solutions Inc., the Neurofeedback and QEEG educational company which has chosen BrainMaster equipment as its equipment of choice.

However, to attend, you do not need to own any specific equipment.

Please note that the hands on practicum day will be working with BrainMaster equipment and software.

This document gives basic information. More formal and in depth information is now available on the Stress Therapy Solutions website at:
